1. Three things: CDs, Hoover tower, synthesizer.

2. I love collecting CDs for their cover art and the music inside. So much thought goes into their design. There's something special about listening to an entire album on a CD player while glancing at its cover.

I live in EV Ken, and I pass Hoover Tower every day on my way to CCRMA. It's a striking part of the landscape, but what amazes me most is everything it holds: giant bells, books, and even a museum.

To me, synthesizers show what design can do. They add distinctive sounds and waveforms to a keyboard and have helped give rise to entirely new genres of music. All of that can fit into an instrument small enough to carry around. That's remarkable.

3.

That should be a design...? MacFish ProMax and MacFriSandwich!
